Conditions related to Inventory Management System as per rule 56(5)

1.1 Separation of powers

Checks and balances should be put in place to ensure that personnel involved in the management of manufacturing of arms and ammunition facility do not simultaneously hold responsibilities that would make it easier for them to steal or otherwise divert firearms while hiding their malfeasance from view.

For example, -

- (a) the same personnel should not be responsible simultaneously for conducting storekeeping, accounting and auditing functions;
- (b) personnel responsible for physically verifying the transfer of firearms should not be responsible for compiling the physical records of the firearm transfers;
- (c) Personnel responsible for firearms accounting should not participate in stock checks without the direct supervision of storage personnel;
- (d) Regular external audits of firearms stocks should be carried out by independent bodies.

1.2 Firearms Account

An account shall be maintained at each manufacturing facility that records the following information for each firearm in storage:

- (a) make;
- (b) model;
- (c) caliber;
- (d) serial number;
- (e) date entered into finished stock;
- (f) date transferred/sold/exported;
- (g) record of modifications and/or repairs; and
- (h) overall quantity of firearms, disaggregated by type.

The firearms account should be in electronic form and shall be 'backed up'. Backups should be in both electronic and hard copy, but may be only in hard copy. In addition uploading of data on NDAL for the current week transactions is mandatory by the close of business hours on every Saturday. Whatever form the backups take, they shall be stored separately from the original and from each other in order to prevent the loss of all data in the event of theft, fire, etc. at the weapons accounting office. Firearms accounts should be kept indefinitely.

1.3 Issue of firearms

Only authorised officials shall remove firearms and ammunition from manufacturing unit's storage areas. A system to positively identify and authenticate persons authorised to remove firearms from storage areas shall be developed and implemented.

Such a system should include a register or log, which can be easily cross- referenced with the firearms account that records at least the following information:

- (a) name and signature of individual removing firearm(s);
- (b) date and time of issue and return of firearm(s);
- (c) make, model and serial number of firearm(s) removed and returned; and
- (d) purpose of removal of firearm(s).

1.4 Stock checks

The contents of firearms stock shall be verified on a regular basis against the firearm account, specifically, -

- (a) a physical stock check by quantity and type of firearms should be conducted –
 - every day in the case of smaller volume manufacturing unit;
 - every week in the case of larger volume manufacturing unit.
- (b) a physical stock check by serial number should be conducted on at least 10% of the firearms in stock –
 - every week in the case of smaller volume manufacturing unit, and
 - every month in the case of larger volume manufacturing unit
- (c) a 100% physical stock check by quantity, type and serial number should be conducted –
 - every six months, regardless of the quantity of firearms in storage, and
 - whenever the custody of keys is permanently transferred between an in-coming and outgoing key custodian.

1.5 Reporting of losses and investigations

Any suspected loss or theft of a firearm shall immediately be reported to the appropriate authority, which should immediately instigate an independent investigation by an individual or organisation unconnected with the firearms management system.

An investigation report should be compiled, including the following information:

- (a) identity of the firearm, including its
 - (1) make,
 - (2) model,
 - (3) caliber,
 - (4) serial number

- (b) date, location and unit involved;
- (c) summary of circumstances of loss;
- (d) explanation of loss (e.g. negligence, theft, etc.);
- (e) disciplinary and/or criminal action taken;
- (f) recommendations to prevent a reoccurrence;
- (g) date and location of recovery of the firearm(s) (if applicable);
- (h) summary of circumstances of recovery (if applicable)

The identity of lost or stolen firearms, as set out in (a) above, shall be recorded and retained in NDAL system in order to facilitate their timely identification upon recovery.

When processing inventory adjustments, no firearm loss shall be attributed to an accounting or inventory discrepancy unless an investigation has determined that the loss was not a result of theft.

1.6 Determination of surplus stocks

It is the prerogative of the manufacturing units to review the types and numbers of firearms with a view to determining the types and numbers of firearms that have become surplus to national/international requirements.

Surplus stocks are understood as functioning firearms (including their parts, components and ammunition) that are no longer required by the armed services of the State in order to ensure internal and external security nor could be exported to legitimate buyers. Firearms determined to be surplus should be -

- (a) officially declared as surplus;
- (b) recorded as surplus in the firearms account;
- (c) taken out of service;
- (d) stored separately; and
- (e) destroyed in accordance with the guidelines
